Waunakee Rotary Club

Sept. 10, 2009
Vol. 43 No. 5

On a sunshine-filled late summer day Sept. 3, the Waunakee Rotary Club held its weekly lunch meeting at the Village Park Shelter.

The club enjoyed a full picnic catered by Rex's for the meeting for its club assembly.

And President Tom Reis inducted three new members: Katie Kennedy-Shepherd, with the classification of marketing; Travis Heiser, with the classification of financial analyst; and Sean Wayne, with the classification of financial analyst.

Tom reported that the board had met the previous morning and donated $1,000 to the Waunakee Neighborhood Connection for a matching grant. There was also discussion at the board level about building another house in Haiti.

Here are some scenes from the Rotary club's outdoor picnic meeting:

It's not often prayer is led with a beer.

Other items:

•Craig Larson said they are one golfer shy of the number needed for the upcoming golf tournament. It will be scramble, best ball format.

•Phil Willems said he will host a meeting with beer, wine and pizza at 7 p.m. Sept.16 at his home to discuss the Rotary Lights event and sample the pizza the club may sell at WaunaFest next year. The club has the potential to take what has been a $2,000-plus fund-raiser and turn it into an $11,000 fund-raiser, Phil said. The club would bake its own pizza. If you're interested, plan on attending. He mentioned there would be beer!

•Dan Statz said Wauktoberfest could use bartenders for Saturday night.
